MANY WITH LARGE INCOMES

In the City of Philadelphia There Are More Rich Men Than in Chicago or Boston.

Last year four men in this district paid a tax on incomes of over $1,000,000, remarks a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger. Seven others worked along on from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Philadelphia and this suburban territory had 175 persons whose incomes exceeded $100,000. In England and Scotland combined there are only 300 persons whose yearly income exceeds $50,000, but Philadelphia and these eight neighboring counties had 506 persons enjoying incomes of that size last year. Now that 20 per cent gain about which Collector Lederer informed me will likely advance about 250 more persons into that $50,000 exclusive set. We reside in one of the very wealthiest spots on earth. Why, there are nine states in the Union which do not have a solitary individual with an income of even $100,000. No wonder they favor a high tax on big incomes!

Collector Lederer also told me that Philadelphia has many more very rich men than either Chicago or Boston. Those cities, however, show a large number of men earning fairly big salaries. All Massachusetts is in the Boston district, and 15 counties are embraced with Chicago in that district, against only eight counties included with Philadelphia, so that city comparisons are not conclusive. This year we will have about 20,000 income tax payers in the Philadelphia district. Last year there were not quite 18,000. Only one state exceeds Pennsylvania in the roll of those who contribute directly to Uncle Sam's support. Approximately one person in ten who pays an income tax resides in Pennsylvania. We had just short of 24,000 out of the 357,000 in the United States.

UNABLE TO SEE THE JOKE

Victim of Clever Hoax Served Long Friendship With Man Who Perpetrated It.

Away back in the days when Miller was preaching the near end of the world there were two men living in Lawrenceville, Pa., neighbors, who may be named Brown and Jones, who were like unto Jonathan and David. Jones was a chicken fancier. Both, like most people in that day, discussed Millerism. One Saturday night Brown, who had read somewhere that if a pointed stick were dipped in oil anything written with it on an egg and with the egg held to the fire the writing would remain indelible. Brown wrote on an egg "The world will come to an end on October 20, 1844," the day Miller had stated, and placed the egg in one of Jones' nests, expecting Jones would come to him as soon as he found it and after a good laugh he would tell him it was done.

But Jones, as soon as he could get his clothes on, rushed to the home of Rev. Richard Lea. The news spread like wildfire and persons coming to town to church carried it and all Sunday there was a throng calling on Jones to see the egg. Brown viewed the crowd with a much-troubled mind and at last he went to Jones and told the story. Never after that did Jones speak to Brown.

Bells Notify of Crime.

Pittsburgh has put its old bell in the city hall to a new use. Whenever a crime is committed within five miles of the seat of municipal government three resounding whacks are bestowed upon the bell and all policemen within hearing get into immediate connection with headquarters.

Perhaps the scheme will work in Pittsburgh, but in Chicago it would be one continuous chime. Possibly an extra deep bass bell would have to be installed to record any unusual rush of depredations. At that it might be of benefit. Citizens would be constantly awakened to problems of city government and of law enforcement and our public morality would have a constant measure of its failings.—Chicago Tribune.
